

STAR WARS: THE OTHER KENDO VERSION.

Synopsis

Hand Job, an itinerant smuggler, thief and interior decorator is fleeing from the forces of the Evil Empire with his trusted sidekick and co-pilot, Chewie. He has disguised his starship as a loaf of bread, in an idiotic bid to fool the agents of the Empire. He is being perused by Vader, an evil Lord of the Sith and important ruling member of the Evil Empire. (Yes, he does look like a guy in a gimp mask and black bin liner, but just ignore that for the moment and assume that his a really bad guy. Ok.) Vader has been ordered to hunt down Hand by the Emperor himself, but Vader has not been given a reason for the urgency of the mission. After tracking Hand's movements for several weeks, Vader has now tracked him to a backwater region in the outskirts of the galaxy.

His space ship's scanners pick up the outline of a loaf of bread, and the crew of the Imperial Ship dismiss it as a piece of debris. But, Vader has seen through Hand Job's poor attempt at subterfuge and launches a devastating attack on it, from his Star Destroyer, the Evacuator.

Hand Job's ship is badly damaged, and spirals through space towards a desert planet known as Arrakis, but then veers off and hits Tatooine instead.

Hand and Chewie rush from the scene of the crash just before the ship explodes. Stranded on this desert planet, the two heroes wander aimlessly across the dunes.

Vader orders the crash site to be searched, and heads down to the surface to help.

Hand and Chewie are exhausted, they are starving and hungry. They wearily crest one of the dunes, only to be attacked by hideous Sand People, brandishing bucket and spade like weapons. Hand and Chewie fall down the dune, and the Sand People rush down after them. Then there is an eerie wailing noise and the Sand People flee in fright. An old man, waving his arms and howling, approaches the two exhausted heroes. He introduces himself as Oh-Bee-Won-KenCrawley. Hand seems to recognise him, but he is not sure where from. Oh-Bee-Won takes Hand and Chewie back to his shack.

Meanwhile, back at the crash site, Vader and his Storm Troopers are searching the scene. Vader tells his men to be weary of the severe desert conditions, while some of the Troopers behind him are wading in the Sea and building Sand Castles. During the search one of the Storm Troopers will pick up a baseball cap from the sand and say "Look Sir, Neds!"

At Oh-Bee-Won's shack, Hand tells Oh-Bee that he is on the run from the Empire. Oh-Bee agrees to help him escape from Tatooine, and says he knows of a place where they may be able to find a spaceship. The city of Mos Granton.

While overlooking the city Oh-Bee describes it as a "Hive of Scum and Villainy." They travel into the city and head towards a Cantina called "The Dewback and Ronto". Oh-Bee tells them that they may be able to find a pilot inside, then leaves to "Take care of some business". Outside the Cantina a blind man is playing a strange wind instrument. Hand uses his old Levitating Cash trick on him, and then enters the Cantina. Inside he tries to locate someone who can supply a ship. He asks around and is told that the man to talk to is a trader known as Honest Halibut.

Meanwhile, Vader and his Storm Troopers have tracked Hand's movements to Oh-Bee's shack. They search it, but all they find is a stash of porn and a map of Mos Granton. One of the Storm Troopers picks up a Porn Mag and says "Look Sir, Porn!" Vader confiscates it for later use, and tells the Storm Troopers to search Mos Ganton.

Back in the Cantina Hand has located Halibut, a corpulent man with a fine taste in hats. They negotiate for the use of Halibut's ship. Hand cannot pay cash, so offers sexual favours instead. Halibut accepts.

Storm Troopers march through the streets of Mos Granton. Vader orders them to stop at a suspicious door, and one of them kicks it down, only to discover it is a toilet, and a hapless citizen is taking a whiz. The Troopers apologise and leave. One of the troopers is heard to say "Look Sir, Piss!"

Halibut takes Hand and Chewie to his private hanger. There they are shown Halibut's spaceship, "Jurassic Park". Hand and Chewie look at it in awe. They then get on board, but refuse to pay Halibut his Head. They take off just as Storm Troopers burst into the hanger and try to shoot down the ship. Vader punishes the Troopers for their lack of success and heads back to his Star Destroyer. A local man, sweeping the streets, comments that "I bet he don't take two bottles into the shower."

Hand and Chewie now prepare to go into hyperspace. Vader, back on his ship is in close pursuit, and orders that the ship should be disabled. The Star Destroyer attacks as "Jurassic Park" goes into hyperspace. But instead of travelling through space, it gets bounced into the sequel. Out of control again, Hand and Chewie spin towards the Ice Planet, Hoth.

On board the Star Destroyer Vader expresses his consternation at the loss of "Jurassic Park" from the scanners by killing an Imperial Officer. But he is soon informed by a fresh Imperial Officer that the ship has simply jumped into the sequel. Vader orders a pursuit.

Back on Hoth, the wreckage of the "Jurassic Park" is spotted by a Rebel Sentry, who comments; "Better call Claims Direct."

Hand and Chewie are dragged from the wreckage, and brought before the leader of the Rebellion, Rear Admiral Snack-bar, and his second in command, Admiral Admiral. Hand is interrogated and once they find out who he is, he is invited to join the rebellion. Admiral Admiral has been told by a wise being known as Yoda, that Hand will be vital to the success of the Rebellion.

Vader has tracked down Hand to Hoth, but is upset as they took the scenic route to get there. He orders a full scale invasion of the planet, and a packet of crisps. One of the troopers is heard to say “Look Sir, Snow!”

As the Storm Troopers start to arrive Rear Admiral Snack-bar orders the evacuation of the planet. The rebels hurry to their ships, arranging to meet up at a rendezvous point near Tatooine. Admiral Admiral, Hand, Chewie and a few hand picked men take off from Hoth and run the gauntlet of Imperial Ships. They jump to Hyperspace and escape the Imperial forces. Vader is not pleased with this turn of events, and takes it out on his men again.

On the Rebel ship, Hand, Chewie, Admiral Admiral, a girl and R2-D2 stand looking out of a window, as a bar of Galaxy chocolate hangs suspended outside. Then the alarms go off . Something is interfering with the ship’s controls. The ship exits hyperspace prematurely, and as a result smashes through into yet another sequel. As a result of the damage sustained, the ship plummets towards Tatooine.

Vader receives a message on his Starship, it is from the Emperor. He knows where Hand is, and orders Vader to suspend the pursuit and head to the Space station near the Moon of Endor. Vader informs his pilot of the new orders and tells him “No scenic route this time, and no Little Chef.”

On Tatooine the crew of the rebel ship emerge from the wreckage and try to ascertain the extent of the damage. A local mechanic tells them, “Scrap heap mate.”

The crew head to Mos Granton. Admiral Admiral tells Hand that it is vital that he seeks out Yoda, as he will be able to tell Hand how he can save the galaxy. The Rebels have a ship stashed on Tatooine which Hand can use. Admiral will send a distress signal to the Rebellion and the rest of the crew will head to Jabba's Palace, a local casino, to await rescue. Hand then leaves for the planet of Dagobah.

On the Space Station, known as the Death Star, Vader awaits the arrival of the Emperor, and attempts to hide the porn he has collected from Oh-Bee-Won-KenCrawley, knowing that the emperor will just steal it. The Emperor's ship arrives, and the Emperor steps onto the Death Star. He is less than complimentary about the station, and starts barking orders. He then walks up to Vader and says, "Hiding Porn, from me? Hand it over cunt."

Hand's new ship is heading towards Dagobah, but too late he realises that he does not know how to fly it. Once more he gets that plummeting feeling. The ship splashes down in a swamp. Hand now finds himself in a hostile environment.

Dagobah is a planet of Swamps, moors, hills, rivers, mountains, oceans, rocks, and jungles, and hand is seen walking through each of them. He then sees a light through the jungle and heads towards it. It turns out to be coming from a Hut. Inside the Hut is Yoda, a tiny hippy. "What great secret do you hold?" asks Hand. Yoda tells Hand about the secrets of Disco Dancing, the lost martial art which divorces mind from body, and thus allows the creation of pure mind power. By learning the secrets of Disco Dancing, Hand will be able to face his greatest enemy, The Emperor. There is then a montage sequence showing Hand's training, which makes it look as if he has been training for months, then the caption "Later that Day" appears, and Hand leaves Dagobah.

A voiceover comes on and says “Meanwhile, at Jabba’s Palace, the first show of the evening is getting underway.” On an unconvincing stage an alien singer is belting out a hit, while patrons of the Casino are gambling, drinking and watching the show. The singer finishes, and Jabba, The Comic Hutt, is wheeled on. He performs his entire routine reclining and stuffing crème eggs in his gob. He speaks in an alien language (gaelic) and the translation appears at the bottom of the screen. His jokes are dire, and the crowd start to turn nasty. Then Admiral Admiral bursts in and guns Jabba down in a hail of bullets. “Ship’s arrived.” He says, and the Rebel crew cheers.

On the Death Star the emperor is having a quiet wank with Oh-Bee-Won-KenCrawly’s porn when an officer interrupts him. The officer reports that the Rebels have left Tatooine and are meeting up with Hand Job in the Yavin sector. The Emperor gives orders for a ship to be sent to pick up Hand, and then goes back to his wanking.

Hand drops out of Hyperspace in the Yavin sector and waits for the rest of the Rebel fleet to arrive. Unfortunately, a Star Destroyer gets there first. They ask him to power down his ship and prepare to be boarded, but he points out then that “it’s only a cockpit!” Hand gets tractorbeamed into the Star Destroyer, and as it heads off the Rebel ships arrive.

On board his flagship Rear Admiral Snack-bar asks Admiral Admiral to prepare his briefing. The admiral explains that the Empire had a deadly new weapon capable of destroying entire planets. It is known as a Death Star, and the Rebellion needs to destroy it if they are to have any hope of freeing the galaxy. Admiral outlines the plan, take out the power core and switch off the lights. This mission will be undertaken by only two ships, himself and Blando Castrated-one, while the rest of the fleet will provide moral support and covering fire.

On board the Death Star an officer tells Vader that Hand has been captured. Vader tells the officer to take the prisoner directly to the Emperor when he arrives. Vader then goes to see the emperor to tell him the good news. The Emperor is still wanking away when Vader arrives. Vader gives him the news, and asks why this one shitbag is so important. The Emperor tells Vader that he once had a dream about Hand Job, and we go into a dream sequence. It is 1977, and Disco is King. The Emperor is getting down when onto the dance floor steps Hand Job, dressed in Flares and a Kipper Tie. Hand stares at the Emperor and the Emperor stares back. Then Hand says “you got no Disco Man!” and the Emperor screams! Once the Emperor has finished telling this story Vader just looks at him and says “So....can I get my Porn back now?”

The Rebels begin their first attack run, lead by Admiral and Blando. Imperial and Rebel fighters engage in dog fighting.

Hand is roughly brought into the presence of the Emperor. “Ah, your fucked now son.” Says the Emperor. Hand and the Emperor banter then the Emperor says “I’ll fucking Disco you into the ground!”

They dance.

Hand Wins.

The Emperor is reduced to rags.

The Rebels have entered the superstructure of the Death Star and are taking out the power core.

The Death Star rocks with explosions, and Vader rushes to his private escape shuttle.

Admiral is close behind Blando, Switching off lights as he goes.

Hand is running through the station when he sees Blando's ship. He calls out for a lift.

Vader's ship takes off as more explosions shake the Station.

Blando and Admiral escape the Death Star, just as it explodes behind them.

Vader's ship limps off and he complains about the "Cheap Imperial Japanese shit."

On the Rebel ships there is rejoicing. Medals are presented to Hand, Chewie, Blando, R2D2 and other Rebels. They get pissed.

Vader finds his Porn.
